

„Towards a Sustainable Energy Future“

Lecture Series in the Summer Semester 2015

funded by

Ministerium für Innovation,
Wissenschaft und Forschung
des Landes Nordrhein-Westfalen

The lecture series „Towards a Sustainable Energy Future“ is organized by the Coordination Unit „Sustainable Development in International Cooperation“ of the University of Bonn and the International Renewable Energy Agency (IRENA). In the lecture series, international experts will analyze and discuss the political, technological, financial, socioeconomic, commercial and regional challenges on the way to a sustainable use of renewable energy.

The Coordination Unit „Sustainable Development in International Cooperation“ of the University of Bonn is funded by the Ministry of Innovation, Science and Research of the State of North Rhine-Westphalia. The goals of the Coordination Unit are to foster networks and synergies with stakeholders from Bonn and North Rhine-Westphalia in the field of sustainable development, to promote the topic of sustainable development in teaching and research at the University of Bonn, to pool and strengthen activities in the field of sustainable development at the University of Bonn and to support and coordinate cooperation with universities and research institutions in developing and emerging countries.

The International Renewable Energy Agency (IRENA) is an intergovernmental organization with its permanent seat in Abu Dhabi and with an Innovation and Technology Centre based in Bonn. Currently, 139 states are member of IRENA. Its goal is to promote a broad and sustainable use of renewable energy all over the world and to support states in a transition towards a sustainable energy future.
